"I am that Bread of Life" ...John 6:48

We bring you wonderful taste as well as the feeling of home, of times gone by, of good quality, of healthy food and warm hearts.

April 2011

We welcome our guests to take advantage of our Handicap Entrance and Beautiful Deck Area which is located at the rear of the building just off the I.O.O.F. Park

"I am the living bread that came down from heaven... If anyone eats of this bread, he will live forever. John 6:51"

I headed west following scenic Highway 36 and heading for Barnes. I supposed someone with more forethought than me would have started the trip from Seneca to Barnes at sometime other than sunset, but then I am not famous for thinking those things through like I should. The flaming red sunset was brilliant, but blinding as well. The sun seemed to dance up and down on this clear spring day as I followed the hilly terrain that is typical for this stretch of highway that weaves its way through Pony Express Country. With each rise in the terrain, the blazing circle of red in the sky would blind me with all its glory and as my car would descend into the next valley, it would tuck itself behind the hill in what was sometimes a picturesque portrait. I had been to see Barrie and Marilyn to deliver some ham & asparagus lasagna. Barrie will be leaving for heaven soon. It was nice to see him and be able to share the reality of this journey that they are on. It has been an up and down roller coaster ride of emotion, depending on the day. We have tried to be careful not to pester them with our need to be reassured that everything is all right. We have been the prayer warriors, holding them up each day and knowing that God is big enough for this. Some people would call me an eternal optimist, or one of those people who looks at their glass as half full, rather than half empty, who have gone before us, do not want to come back. We cry for ourselves, the rather pathetic looking crew, that are left behind. I am sad only when I am blinded by the intense blinding reality that is what we will deal with when things are never the same here on this earth without them. As I turned south on Highway 148 for the last few miles to Barnes, the sun seemed to rest quietly atop the hills in a restful farewell. Life does level out again, never the same but somehow we are blessed by this episode in our lives, as well as the unique mark left here by the one that we miss so dearly.

Some people reach the top of the ladder of success only to find it is leaning against the wrong wall.

But seek ye first the kingdom of God, and His righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you. Matt 6:33
